

Why Beijing – Chicago

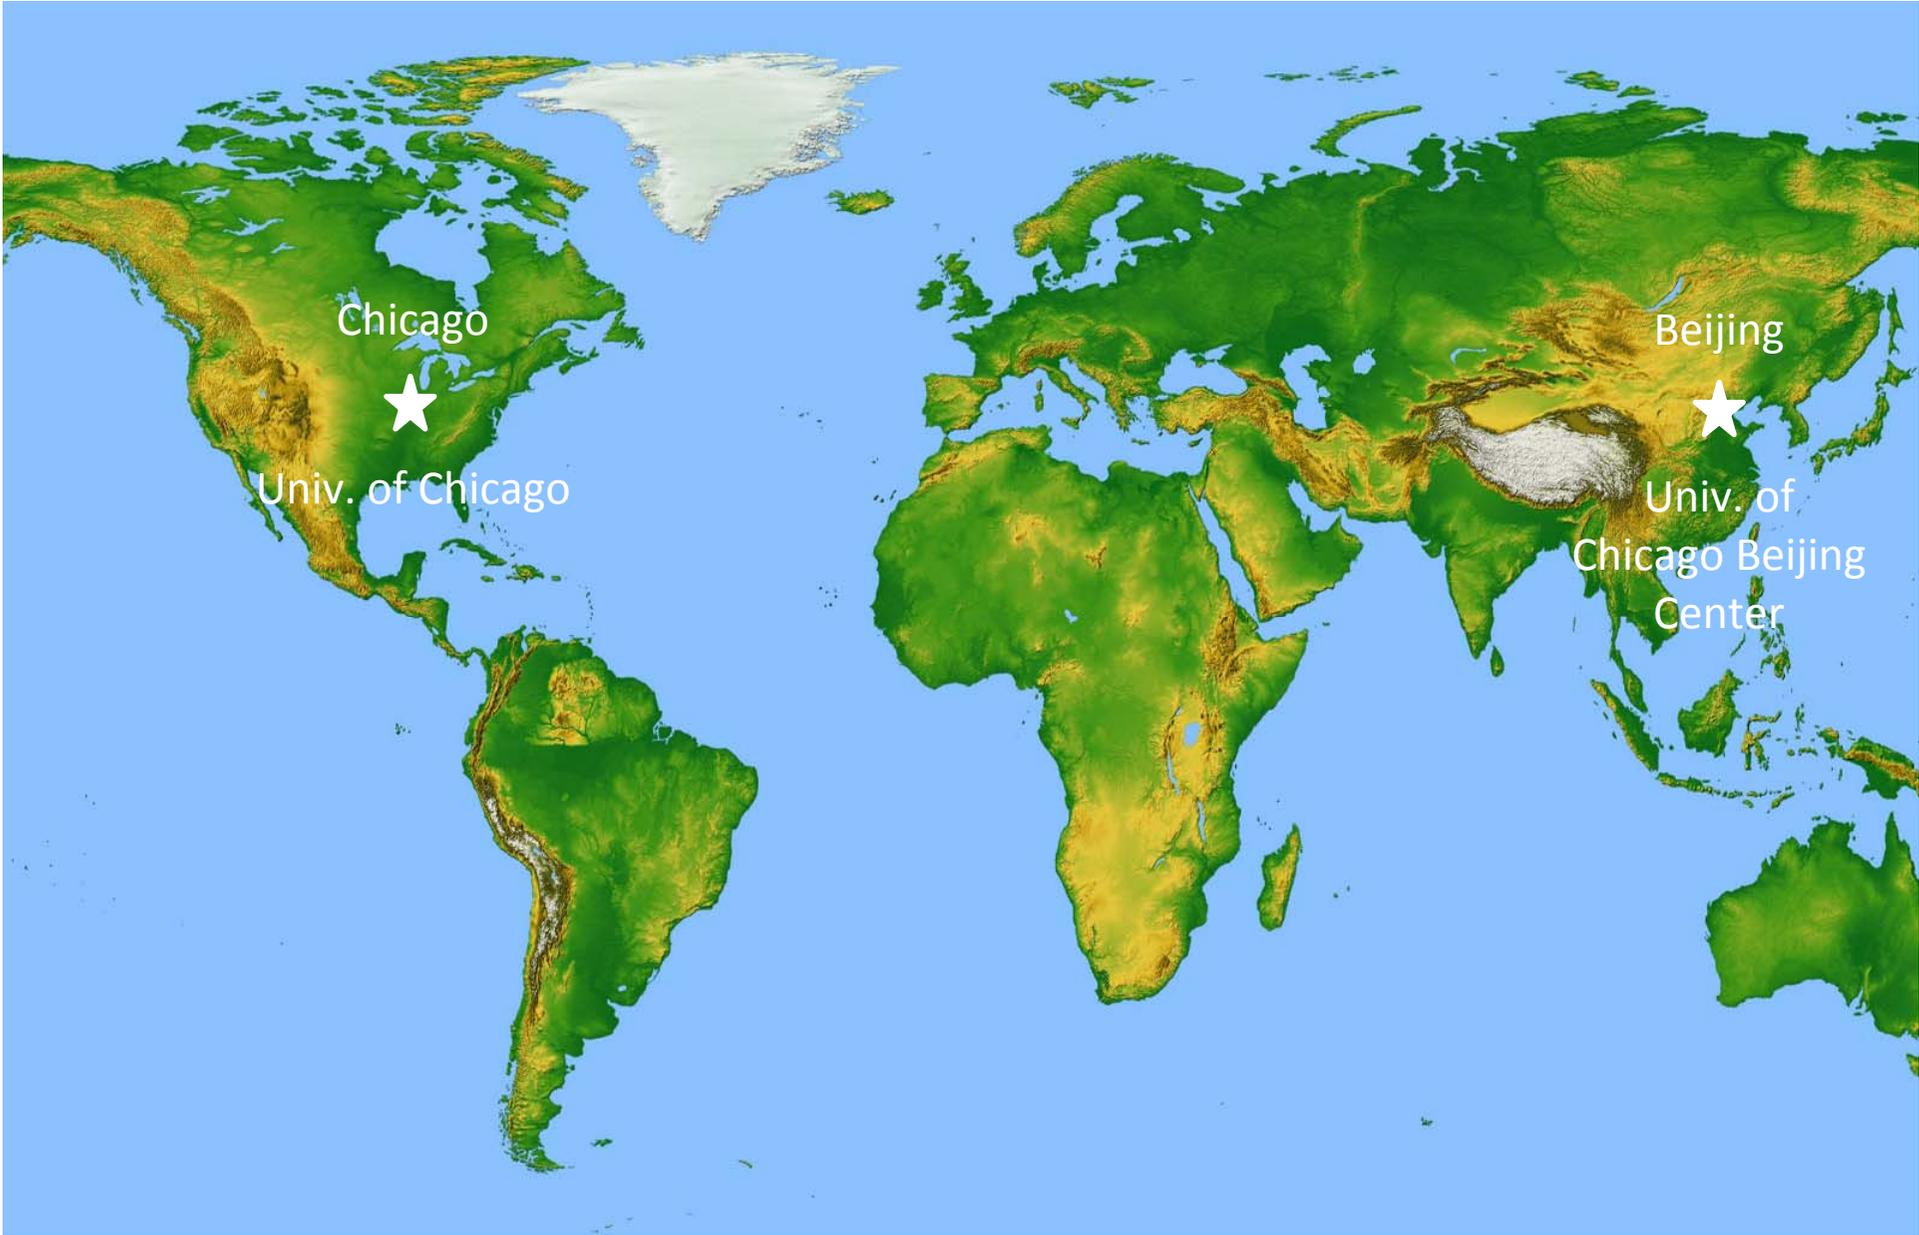

Young-Kee Kim

Fermilab and the University of Chicago

Beijing – Chicago Workshop on Detector R&D

June 1 – 2, 2012,

U.Chicago Beijing Center, Beijing, China

Chicago

Univ. of Chicago

Beijing

Univ. of
Chicago Beijing
Center

The Forth Meeting of the PRC-US Joint Committee on High Energy Physics in U.S., November 1983

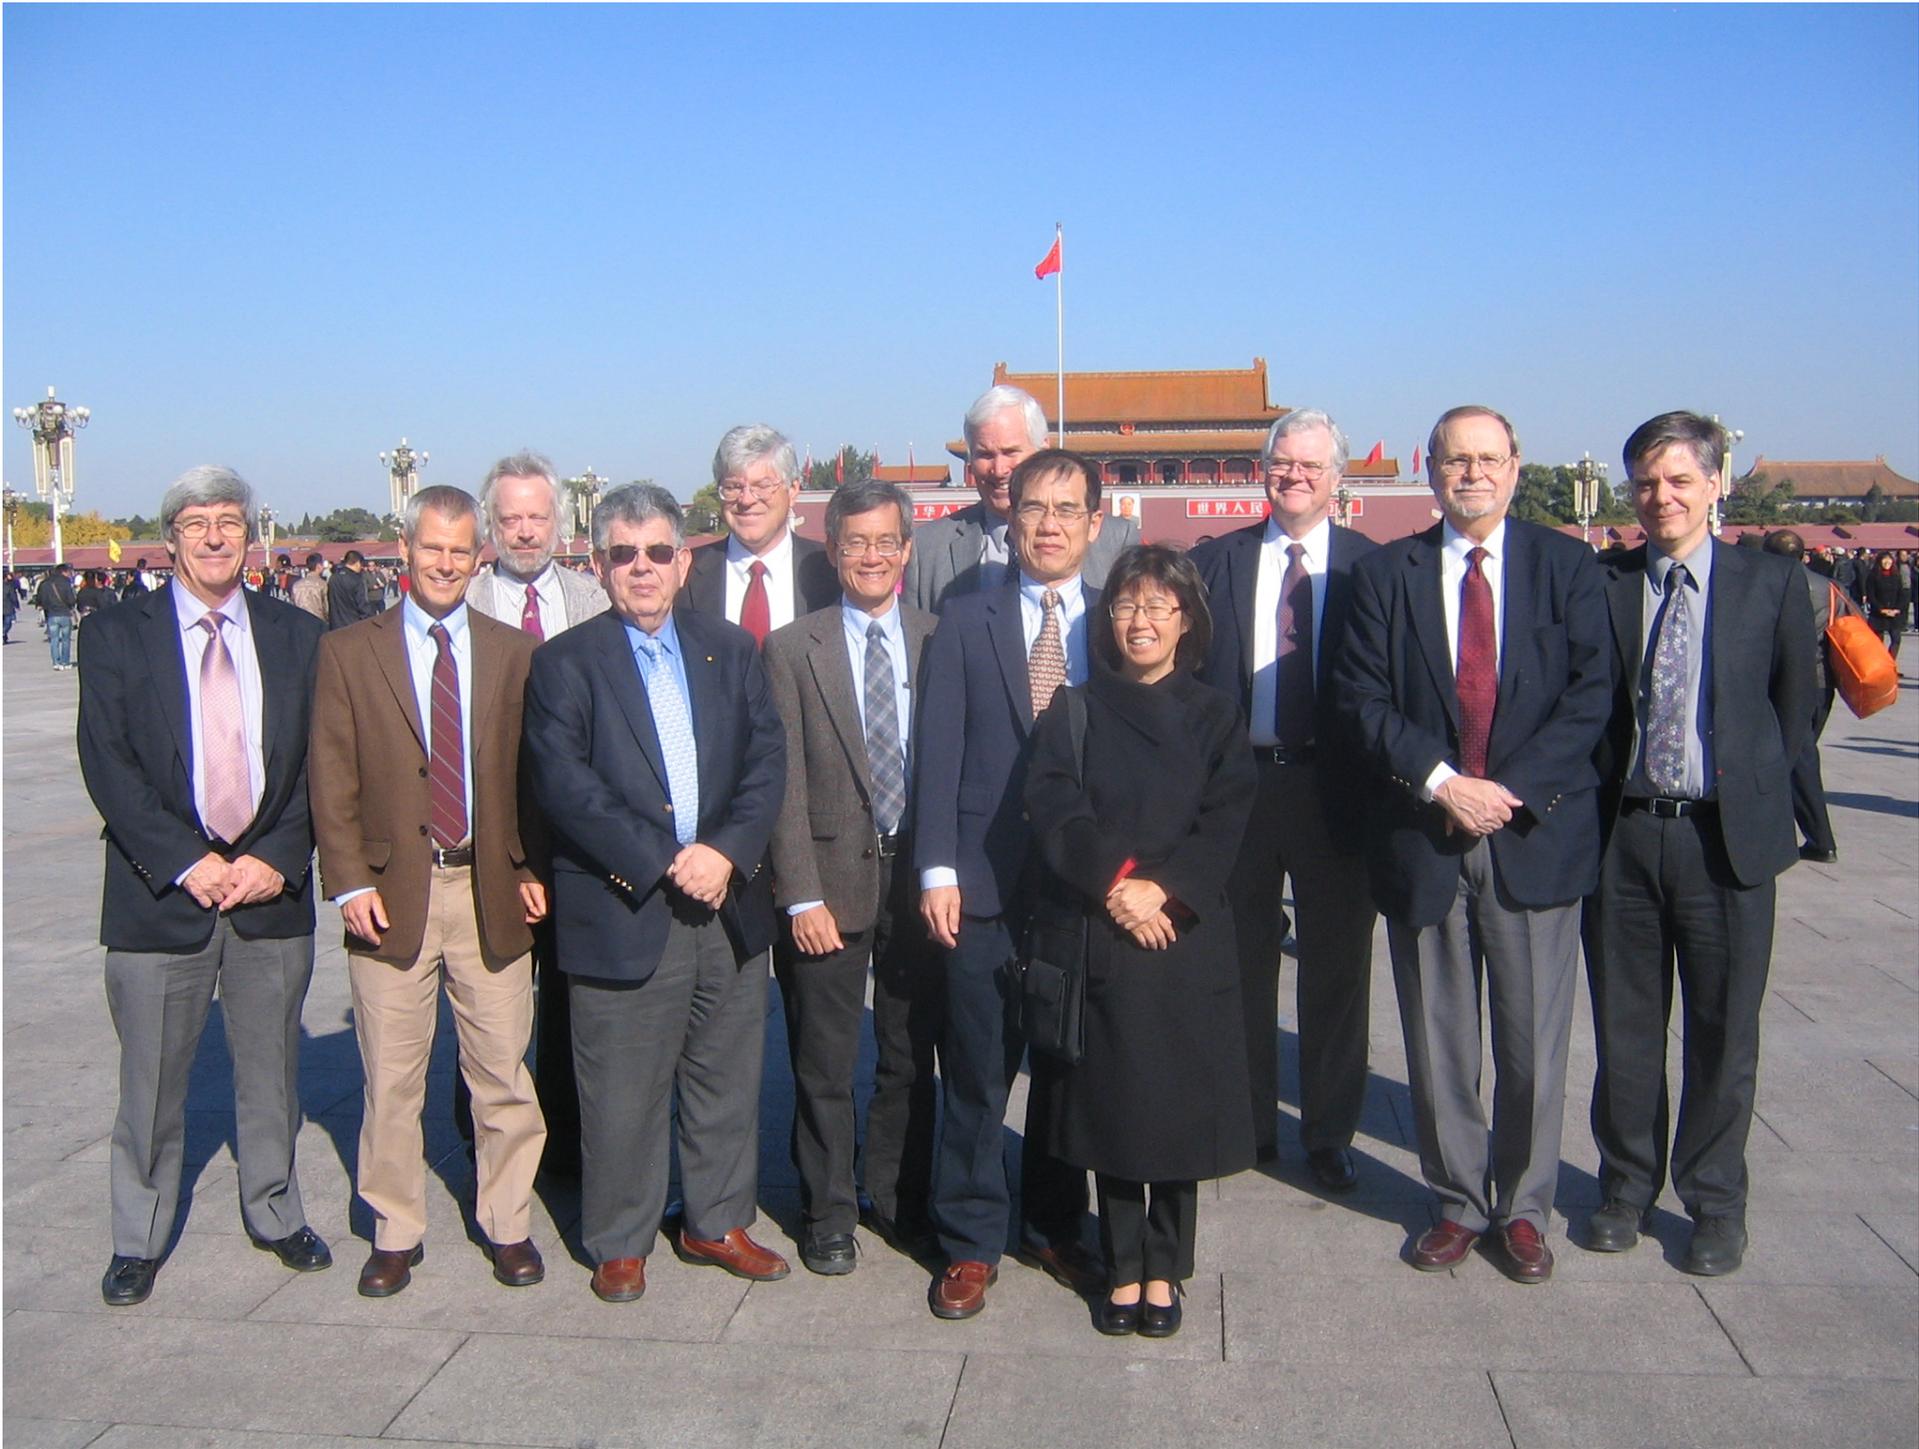

The Twenty-eighth Meeting of the PRC-US Joint Committee on High Energy Physics in Chicago, 2007

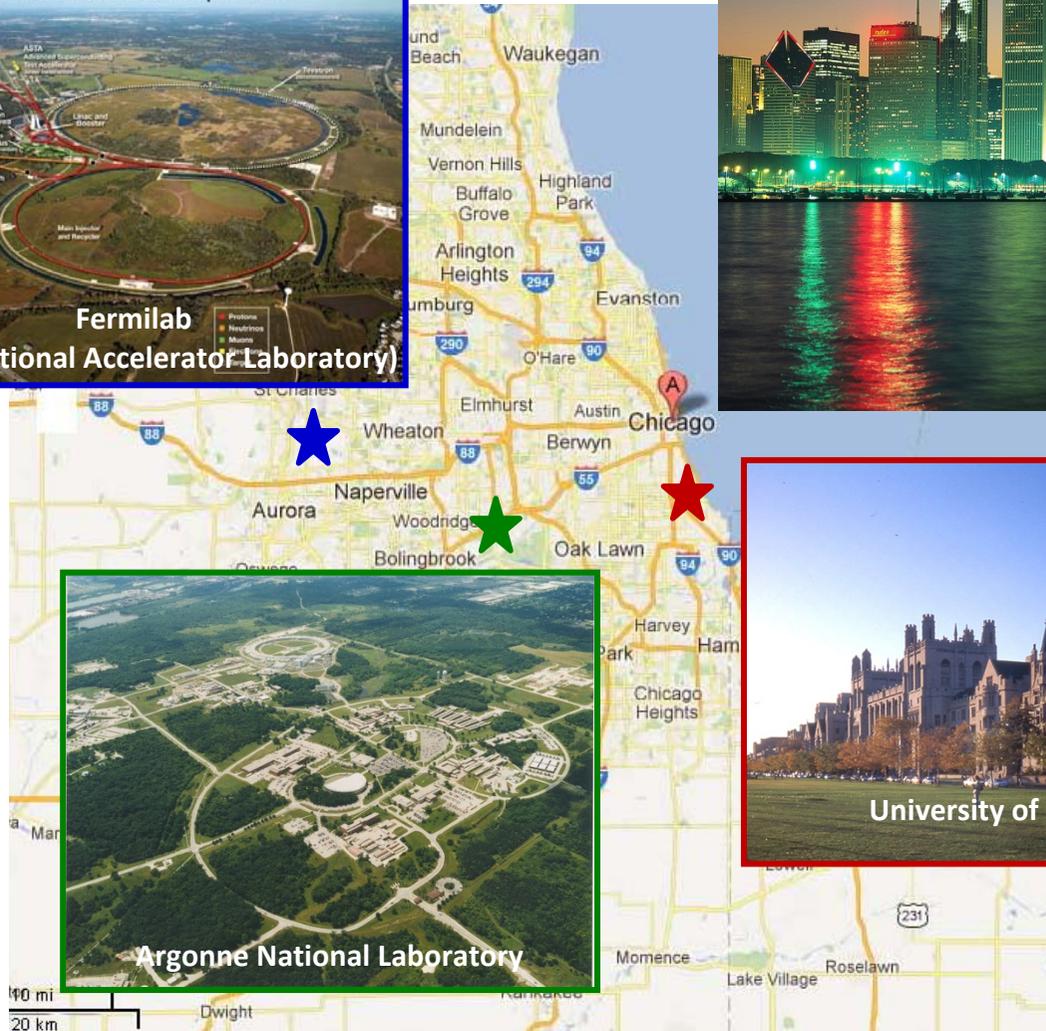

The Thirty-first Meeting of the US-PRC Joint Committee on High Energy Physics in Beijing, Nov. 1 – 2, 2010

Chicago

U.Chicago-Argonne-Fermilab Connection

- Collaboration meetings for enhancing research collaborations
 - Twice a year since Fall 2006 (11 meetings so far)
 - Accelerators, Detector R&D, Computing, ...
- U.Chicago – National Lab. Strategic Initiatives
 - U.Chicago – Argonne initiatives / U.Chicago – Fermilab initiatives
 - Seed grants: e.g. pico-second timing, PET, LHC Tracking upgrade, ...
- Joint Speakers Series
 - Twice a year since 2010
 - Connect between members of the University (science, art, humanity) and members of Argonne and Fermilab (science, engineering)